I am aware that the Los Angeles County Mental Health Commission is looking to fill five vacancies on their citizen, volunteer commission. At least 50 percent of the seats must be filled by individuals with lived experience (either personally, or through family connections). The Commission also seeks to reflect the diversity of the county, and values a variety of disciplines and expertise: law, business, nonprofit, health care, law enforcement, etc. The seats are filled by members of the board of supervisors.

If you would like to know more about what it takes to serve on the commission, or if you have someone in mind who might be a candidate, let me know. I offered to reach assist the chair in cultivating some names that could be presented to the supervisors.
